Item	Points
Copy and paste the results from running the six tests using the words.txt and story.txt files.	/ 10
After completing the benchmarking required above, you should guess how long you think it will take each of the benchmarks to take using the words.txt and kjv10.txt files. Group the different operations into three categories: fastest, middle, and slowest. Place all of the ones that you think will take a long time to run in the slowest category, etc. You can just cut/paste the lines of text into the appropriate grouping. In addition to grouping the different operations, you should explain your reasons in a paragraph.	/ 15

Your fully documented source files. These hardcopies should be well formatted. For example, you might print from IntelliJ using 10pt Consolas with line numbers, and default headers (filename) and footers (page numbers). Some linewrapping is okay, but it should not be excessive. Use landscape mode or an 8pt font if necessary.	/ 30
